

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system is provided in which a person who has accessed an advertisement can be identified on the server side. In a system that provides a service which reduces a charge for the user who has accessed an advertisement added to a received electronic mail, the server on the network adds address information including a server address, identification information and advertisement address to the mail when it sends the mail to the mail recipient.